The workshop will begin with Yin Yoga, a quiet practice that encourages the body to open as poses are held passively for several minutes. YIN YOGA targets connective tissue and activates the movement of chi, or prana, in the body. Each pose is a mini meditation, a time to explore the body and the mind with deep awareness. The second half of the afternoon will feature Therapeutic Yoga.

Therapeutic Yoga, as demonstrated in Cheri Clampett & Biff Mithoefer's Therapeutic Yoga Kit, is a carefully designed collection of restorative yoga (supported poses), gentle yoga, breath work, guided meditation, and hands-on healing. It is a perfect practice for anyone in the process of healing from injury/illness, or going through times of stress - physically, emotionally or mentally.

The blending of the practices of Yin and Therapeutic Yoga creates the ideal environment for deep release, healing and rejuvenation.
